

2022 Board of Directors Conflict of Interest Statement

Board members, or their family members residing in the same household, who have an association with a sponsor of Project Scholars or Pig on the Pond Community Festival must disclose this information prior to joining the Board or before a new sponsor is accepted.

"Association" means the board member or family member is a member of the staff, board of directors, foundation, or volunteer of the sponsor or potential sponsor. This applies to all sponsors, whether they are nonprofit or for-profit businesses and organizations.

Board members with a conflict of interest must abstain from discussing or voting on matters related to the sponsor. Board members with such disclosed conflicts of interest may, however, answer specific questions to assist information-gathering by other board members.

Board members with the above-mentioned conflict of interest must disclose it prior to any voting related to awards. They must abstain from voting but can answer specific questions as part of the information-gathering process of the Board.

Minutes of board meetings should include any disclosures made.

Board members shall complete a Conflict of Interest Disclosure Statement each year and must also list all employers, directorships, offices and positions in any professional or charitable organizations to which they belong (see page 2). Board members who do not disclose such information may be requested to resign from the Board.
